MANAGED DETECTION & RESPONSE, EXPLAINED

Managed Detection & Response, also known as MDR, is a cybersecurity service that adds incident response to the traditional Security Operations Center (SOC). Where the traditional SOC passes the responsibility of incident response back to the IT department, MDR actually responds and takes action on cybersecurity events that are identified by the SOC.

Cybereruptive's managed detection and response (MDR) services bring value to your Security Operations Center (SOC) by taking immediate action against potential threats.

Many SOC's only focus on known threats, which means that as threats evolve, incidents can go undetected and unmitigated for months or even years, allowing attackers to get comfortable within an environment and wreak havoc.

To detect and respond to both known and unknown threats quickly and thoroughly, our MDR team members combine years of personal expertise with our leading incident detection.
